

Environmental Justice Assignment

Deadline: Monday, April 13

This assignment is intended for you to recognize existing hazardous systems that endangers our environment, from the obvious to the everyday things we do routinely, but may not realize how hazardous it is. Whether you photograph already existing sites and practices or construct them, communicating the contributing factors would allow the viewer to take another look at their own actions. I'll ask you to make sure the 10 images are related with one another, you can building on a story and/or theme or take several examples of scenes relating to this topic.

For this assignment, I'm asking for you to take as many images as you want, but to hand in 10 images total for the project. We'll view them together digitally on April 13th and go through your process and have a one-on-one critique of your work. Use www.wetransfer.com to import your work to me.
